

Replacement Filters

AIR QUALITY SYSTEM 500

The superior performance promised of the Vornado Air Quality System 500 is realized only when genuine Vornado Allergen Reducing Filters are used. Others may claim their filters can be used in the Vornado AQS® 500 but those filters are not designed for our units, and in most cases are not as effective and may not last as long, costing you money.

Spend more time with your family and less than 5 minutes per year on air purifier maintenance. Vornado's Allergen Reducing disposable filters do not require frequent maintenance to preserve efficiency as many permanent filters do. Simply replace 1-2 times per year, depending on use. Changing the filters is easy, no tools required. The change filter indicator light on the control panel will notify you when the filter should be replaced.

Vornado's Air Quality System 500 filters can be disposed of without direct contact. By disposing of the filters, the likelihood of trapped allergens being released back in the air is reduced.

Instructions For Filter Replacement

Step 1. Unplug unit.

Step 2. Lift off power head from base.

Step 3. Simply pull out the filters, or if you do not want to touch the used filters, carry the base of the unit to the trash and dump out the filters.

Step 4. You may want to vacuum or dust off any part of the base inlet area that has accumulated dust buildup before replacing the filters.

Step 5. To replace, direct the airflow arrows on the new filters inward toward the center of the air purifier.

Resetting the change filter indicator

Make sure to reset the change filter indicator. Press and hold both the timer button and the speed button on the control panel at the same time for 5 seconds.
